A Republican running against Sen. Elizabeth Warren (Mumbai-origin middle-class Family - Moved to the U.S. when she was seven) in Massachusetts said he's ready to challenge her anti-Trump platform and claims of Native American ancestry. Shiva Ayyadurai is an Indian-American running for the Republican Senate nomination. He was interviewed on Fox Business's "Varney & Co." while discussing his bid, about running for Warren's seat in 2018. "Well, I think only a real Indian can defeat a fake Indian," he said.

Warren has previously claimed to have Native American heritage, though reports say she could only be about 1/32 Native American. "I sent her a DNA test kit for her birthday, and I was very sad that she returned it," Ayyadurai added. Ayyadurai said he's a big supporter of President Trump, unlike Warren, who has been vocal in her criticism of the administration. "I love Donald Trump, I think he's doing a great job," Ayyadurai said. "He's my hero."

The tech-minded businessman, who holds a 1982 federal copyright called EMAIL, added that he was looking forward to the State Convention in April 2018 and the Republican primary election in September. "In Massachusetts, 46 percent of Democrats have said that Elizabeth Warren should not run," Mr. Ayyadurai added. "So there's a significant opportunity here."

For me, defeating Elizabeth Warren in Massachusetts is driving a bigger blow to these institutions of power right in the belly of the beast."

Elizabeth Warren fraudulently claimed to be of Native American heritage --- a claim that she exploited to get a faculty position at Harvard University. Dr. Ayyadurai has been relentless in exposing Warren's lies including sending her DNA Test kits, on multiple occasions, to provide her the opportunity to verify her "Indian" heritage. Warren's refusal to take the test has created a significant credibility problem, forcing her to drop out of the 2020 Presidential race. Dr. Ayyadurai's actions have inspired millions across Massachusetts and America to support his anti-Establishment campaign to unseat Warren.

This is not the first time Dr. Ayyadurai has been targeted defending First Amendment rights.

Last year in August of 2017, Dr. Ayyadurai was the Keynote Speaker in the Boston Common at the Free Speech Rally, which was attacked by Boston Mayor Marty Walsh and the Governor of Massachusetts Charlie Baker, who set upon him and the 40 who joined him on the Parkman bandstand, a mob of 40,000 people wanting a bloodbath to lynch the "Nazis and White Supremacists" on the bandstand. Both Walsh and Baker, staunch Elizabeth Warren supporters, had branded the event as a "Nazi" and "White Supremacist" event, and colluded with the media to prevent them listening to the actual speeches. Luckily, Dr. Ayyadurai was not lynched by the mob, and the actual video of Dr. Ayyadurai's speech, which went viral on social media, demonstrated that it was Dr. Ayyadurai who was defending African-Americans, holding up posters that said "Black Lives DO Matter," and was exposing the racist agenda of politicians from Hillary Clinton to Joe Biden, who are supported by Elizabeth Warren.

As a result City of Cambridge Threatens $300 Per Day Fine if Dr. Shiva Ayyadurai Does Not Remove Slogan "Only A Real Indian Can Defeat The Fake Indian" from Campaign Bus.

On April 5, 2018, the City of Cambridge's Building Inspector sent Dr. Shiva Ayyadurai, who is running as an Independent to unseat Elizabeth Warren, in the 2018 U.S. Senate race, a letter threatening to levy a fine of $300 per day if the campaign did not remove the slogan "Only A Real Indian Can Defeat The Fake Indian" from the Shiva 4 Senate campaign bus.

According to the letter, the City had received "anonymous complaints" concerning the signage. The City, however, had no problem with the earlier slogan on the bus, "Shiva for U.S. Senate. Fight For America," which had been on the bus for more than one year.

"Senator Elizabeth Warren's actions are vengeful and an outright attack on the First Amendment and Free Speech. Our slogan exposes the deception of Warren -- not just her shoplifting identity, but her lack of integrity," said Dr. Shiva Ayyadurai.

John Medlar, the organizer of the 2017 Boston Free Speech Rally stated, "Dr. Shiva Ayyadurai is a true warrior. He has been the only candidate to stand up for Free Speech. I am not surprised they are trying to silence him."

More recently, attempts were made to evict Dr. Ayyadurai from the St. Patrick's Day Parade in order to help Elizabeth Warren's campaign, by denying Dr. Ayyadurai to meet nearly 1 million people, who attended the event. However, this attempt was unsuccessful, and Dr. Ayyadurai was cheered on by tens of thousands at the parade. The slogan on the bus, "Only a Real Indian Can Defeat the Fake Indian," turned out to be the hit of the entire parade, as the above video shows.

Dr. Ayyadurai's campaign vowed to fight this latest attack by Warren and the City of Cambridge. "We have a message for the City of Cambridge and Elizabeth Warren," said Mike Mosca, Campaign Manager for the campaign, 'Only A Real Indian Can Defeat a Fake Indian!'"
